School and sports resume in Crestwood School District

Students in the Crestwood School District didn’t head back into their school buildings for the start of this school year. Students instead began the 2020-2021 school year using virtual learning platforms until at least October 1.

Meanwhile, St. Jude School, along with other Luzerne and Lackawanna County Scranton Diocese Schools, opened their doors on September 8.

After a summer of uncertainty, one thing was for sure at Saint Jude School on opening day, the pandemic of 2020 did not lessen school spirit nor take away the students’ love of their school family. As the academic year opened that day, students arrived via busses and cars to be greeted by the faculty and staff who had worked hard all summer to ensure in-person learning could take place.

Sister Ellen Fischer and her faculty and staff worked tirelessly on a safety and health plan to ensure optimal learning conditions while social distancing measures are in place.

And on the sports front, from the football turf to the field hockey fields, the links, the hills, the courts, the hardwood, and the soccer field, some semblance of normality returned to the grounds of Crestwood High School on September 4 when the Comets played their first game, a scrimmage against the Dallas High School Mountaineers.

pitch, over 400 Crestwood student athletes return to action this fall as high school sports resumed for the first time since being interrupted last spring by Covid-19.

Crestwood athletic director Dean Ambosie reported 413 boys and girls will participate in fall sports this year. Nearly 30 percent of the high school/middle school student population will participate in fall sports.

For some juniors and seniors, it is an opportunity to show their skills to college recruiters. For others, it is simply a chance to again participate in a sport they love.

For football team quarterback Ryan Petrosky, it was a relief to learn that fall sports would go on at Crestwood. “It feels good to be back,” the senior said prior to a recent pre-season practice. “For a long time, we didn’t know what was going to happen, whether we were going to be able to play or not,” he offered. He noted the importance of the season for senior athletes. “It means a lot,” he said. “For a lot of guys who are seniors, this will be the last time they are playing football. It’s big that we are having a chance to play.”

Petrosky also is a member of Crestwood’s basketball team. His teammate Ryan Harding, also a senior, is excited for the opportunity to play football this fall. “It really feels great to get back on the field and get a season in,” Harding offered. “One final season with the boys should be nice.” Like Petrosky, Harding is a two-sport athlete, excelling in lacrosse.

In all, eight Comet teams resumed practice on August

Wright Township taking closer look at recycling

Wright Township supervisors are expected to take a close look at the operation of the township’s recycling center, including the possibility of charging non-residents to use the facility.

Meanwhile, Slocum Township residents will see an increase in their annual trash and recycling removal fee due to increased hauling costs.

Two weeks ago, Wright Township stopped accepting glass at the center as a cost-cutting measure, but Matthew Howton, chairman of the board of supervisors, said further steps are needed to abate the financial drain the center has on the township. “We have to offset costs somehow,” Howton stated.

Historically, the Wright Township center has accepted recyclable material from anyone, regardless of their residency. Recently, Dorrance Township suspended operation at its recycling center and Rice Township took steps to limit its facility to township residents by requiring residents to obtain recycling permits which are free to residents. Neighboring Fairview Township does not have a recycling program. “We have people from four or five municipalities using our facility now,” Howton related. “That places the (financial) burden on us.”

To address that financial burden, Howton said supervisors will examine the possibility of imposing a fee for non-residents to use the center.

Howton said he and supervisor Michael Marshall recently met with Rick Solomon, owner of Solomon Container Service, whose Wilkes-Barre firm has the township’s recycling contract, to discuss ways to cut costs. Howton said the meeting was positive and the township and Solomon agreed to some steps aimed at lowering costs.

One of those steps, Howton said, is controlling recyclable material brought to the center. He explained that despite signs indicating what material will be accepted, some people try to drop off items that do not belong at the recycling center. He noted that center employees are spending a great deal of time checking what is being brought into the facility. “We have to stop people from bringing garbage,” Howton stated.

He pointed out the center accepts plastics marked “1” and “2,” yet some people try to sneak in other material like styrofoam and plastic grocery bags. “We have to make some changes. Hopefully with the help of the public we will be able to do that,” the supervisor commented.

Garbage fees to rise in Slocum Township

Slocum Township supervisor Charles Herring said when the township advertised for bids for refuse and recycling removal it received just one bid. Herring said County Waste submitted a bid for a three-year contract at $87,000 per year for each of the three years, an increase of $9,000 per year. County Waste is the current waste/recycling hauler for the township at a cost of $78,000 annually.

“We were hoping we would get more bids, but County Waste was the only bidder,” Herring related. He said the township has no choice but to increase the annual rate for residents from the current $165 to $200. “The township contributes quite a bit for trash removal from its general fund,” Herring noted. He said the township has not raised the trash removal fee since 2008. The supervisor pointed out that even at $200 annually, by contracting out trash and recycling for the entire municipality, residents will pay less than $17 a month.

Wright Township schedules cleanup

Wright Township has scheduled its annual cleanup for October 5-10. Normally held in the spring, the cleanup was postponed due to the Covid-19 pandemic. Township employees will pick up large items at residences for a fee on October 5 through 7. Dumpsters will be available behind the municipal building to deposit items on Wednesday, October 7 from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.; on Thursday and Friday, October 8 and 9 from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Saturday, October 10 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Permits needed for recycling in Rice

Rice Township residents will be required to obtain an annual permit and show it to use the municipality’s recycling center as of September 19.

Permits will be free to township residents and can be obtained from the township office during normal business hours. Supervisors took the action to require permits at their September 1 meeting to insure only township residents utilize the center. Board chairman Bob Pipech pointed out neighboring Dorrance Township recently suspended operation at its recycling center and Wright Township no longer accepts glass. The municipalities took the actions citing rising costs of recycling, programs that at one time brought income to municipalities.

The township recycling center is open on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. year-round and Wednesdays from 4 to 7 p.m. through October.

In other news...

Pipech also announced that the township’s annual leaf drop off will begin October 12 and end November 20. Residents can deposit leaves in a dumpster which will be located near the municipal building. Leaves must be in clear plastic bags. Branches must be cut to a length of no more than three feet and be no more than one inch in diameter. Pipech noted surveillance cameras record activity in the area.

Supervisors authorized township engineer Andrew Pasonick to advertise for bids for the Ice Lakes dam retrofit project. Bids will be opened October 6 and considered at the board’s meeting that night. The township recently received a $508,833 grant funded by the H2O PA and the Pennsylvania Small Water and Sewer Program to complete the dam repair.

Township officials have been dealing with the Ice Lake dam issue for five years. It received a Local Shares Account (gaming) grant and a grant from the state Department of Community and Economic Development to be used for the project.

After several delays beyond their control, in December 2017 supervisors awarded AR Popple a $179,500 contract for repairs the dam. However, in mid-May 2018, the contractor halted work on the project, leaving behind a muddy lakebed. A lawsuit over the work is still in litigation.

To get the project completed, supervisors advertised for bids on the project in March of 2019, but none were received. A second advertisement in June resulted in four bids. Latona Trucking was the lowest of the four bidders at $490,833.

Supervisors voted to reject a $157,748 bid from New Enterprise Stone and Lime Co., Inc. to double tar and chip Ice Harvest Road. Supervisors said the bid exceeded available funding.

The township will have a bit less money available next year for winter snow removal, rod maintenance and repairs. Supervisors reported the township’s 2021 estimated Liquid Fuels reimbursement will be $121,217.10, a decrease of $13,288.61 from 2020.

Supervisors adopted a resolution to permanently close Willowby Street to vehicular traffic from Nuangola Road to Front Street.

They also ratified a decision to hire Chemung Supply to strengthen previously installed guide rail on the south side of Weyhenmeyer Road Bridge, extend the existing guide rail, and install a new guide rail on the north side of the bridge at a cost of $5,495.

TNR working in Fairview Township

The feral cat trap, neuter, and release program in Fairview Township appears to be working.

In late summer of 2019 supervisors considered enacting an ordinance that would prohibit feeding of stray or feral cats.

The proposed ordinance came about a Forest Road resident complained to supervisors that a neighbor was feeding cats which were defecating and urinating on his property. He asked the supervisors if they could pass an ordinance to make it illegal to feed stray or feral cats.

When the proposed ordinance was advertised for adoption at the supervisors August 2019 meeting, nearly a dozen attended the session to speak out against it, saying it would...

not solve the problem, and was inhumane, and unenforceable.

Township resident Gail Snyder subsequently volunteered to coordinate a trap, neuter, release program and has made monthly reports to supervisors who tabled the ordinance for one year.

At the September 1 supervisors meeting, Snyder told supervisors there were no feral cats trapped in August and that she has not had any requests to trap cats since June. She also said there is no sign of stray or feral kittens.

Both Snyder and board chairman Michael Iorio agreed the trap, neuter, and release program is working.

Improving Our World.
Mountain Top coffee shop has a new owner and a new name

A popular Mountain Top coffee shop has a new owner and a new name.

Moon Shadows, which operated for the last 13 years in a trailer located at South Main Road and Nuangola Road in Wright Township recently was purchased by Chris Madden. After taking over the business on August 24, Madden changed the name to Mountain Café, has remodeled the trailer and added a new sign.

Madden said he purchased the business and the trailer from Gary Parks who started Moon Shadows 13 years ago with his daughter, Samantha. When long-time Moon Shadows manager Bonnie Myers retired, Parks decided to sell the business. “I’ve gone there for years,” Madden said. “They have great coffee and I always like to support locally owned businesses,” he added.

Madden, who is a realtor with EXP Realty, a national real estate company, said when he heard the business was for sale, he wanted to make sure it stayed on the mountain. “Curry Donuts closed, so that left Dunkin Donuts and McDonald’s, both national chains. I wanted Mountain Top to have a ‘homegrown’ coffee place — a place that’s locally owned.”

Moon Shadows was known for its brewed flavored coffees such as the popular Jamaica Me Crazy. It also featured some unique brews like Breakfast With Elvis which had peanut butter and banana flavors brewed into it. Madden said he doesn’t plan any immediate changes to the coffee offerings. He said he plans to watch which flavors sell and which don’t and go from there.

Down the line, Madden said he is thinking about adding breakfast sandwiches. “Our customers tell me they love the coffee, but many are also looking for a breakfast sandwich. They don’t want to have to go to two places for their coffee and sandwich,” he explained.

Madden also is considering looking for a new location, somewhere on Route 309. “That would make us more visible and hopefully attract more customers,” he offered.

Morley named Democratic chairman of House Ethics Committee

State Rep. Gerald Mulley, D-Luzerne, was named the Democratic chairman of the House Committee on Ethics. This assignment is Mulley’s first as committee chairman.

“I am honored to be named the Democratic chair of this committee and while no legislation moves through this committee, it does have truly important duties,” Mulley said. “I remain committed to holding all representatives accountable and restoring the people’s trust in state government.”

The House Committee on Ethics has the responsibility to investigate and deal with violations of House rules, the legislative code of ethics and the Lobby Disclosure Act. The committee also is responsible for planning and conducting ethics education courses as required by House rules.
Kiwanis Club of Mountain Top golf tournament a swinging success

Even in the best of times, staging a popular and successful community fund-raising event like the annual Kiwanis Club of Mountain Top golf tournament requires meticulous planning and execution. During a pandemic, with all of the steps necessary to make the health and safety of the golfers, volunteers and Mountain Laurel staff members the first priority, the challenge is even greater. Thanks to fantastic support from the loyal golfers, generous sponsors and a bit of luck on the weather, the August 28 event was a success by all measures. Well over 100 golfers teed it up, and the consensus was that people were happy to enjoy the great outdoors and each other’s company in a responsible and socially-distanced manner. For the record, Dan Frascella, Jr’s team led the way with a score of 18 under par, good for a one stroke victory. The club members would like to thank all of the participants and volunteers, and especially its sponsors, including Trion Industries, Cavanaugh’s Grille, Eco Industrial, Packaging Insights, Kronick Kalada Berdy & Co., Odyssey of the Mind Parent’s Group and Sennett & Associates.

Kiwanis is an international community service organization, and the Mountain Top Club has been active locally for well over 50 years. Events like the golf tournament and the twice annual pancake breakfasts allow for support of organizations that make our community better, including the Mountain Top Food Pantry, Crestwood High School Key Club, Crestwood Odyssey of the Mind teams, and many others. If you are looking for a way to join with other service-oriented community members in a relaxed and positive way to make a difference in the lives of children and those in need, please consider attending a monthly meeting or one of their events. Check out the Kiwanis Club of Mountain Top Facebook page or call Brian at 570-868-5861 for more details.

Cross Country team has a blast washing cars

Members of the cross country team had a great time washing cars and have quite a system going when it comes to multiple cars getting washed at the same time.

The Crestwood Comets Cross Country Booster Club held a car wash fundraiser on Saturday, September 12 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Crestwood High School parking lot. Cost to get a car washed was a $10 donation and there were raffle basket tickets available for purchase as well.

It was a bit chilly, but the kids had a great time and were pleased with the turnout and support for their team.
