The on-the-job training offered by SCSEP means that you will be assigned to train at a government or nonprofit agency for 15-20 hours per week. You will be paid the minimum wage by the program for the time you spend in on-the-job training, attending approved classes or program meetings, or otherwise engaged in authorized training activities.

Noise from plant in industrial park is a problem in Fairview

A dozen township residents turned out for the April meeting of Fairview Township supervisors to voice their complaints about noise coming from a plant in the Crestwood Industrial Park.

The residents from Bow Creek and Highland Woods developments told supervisors the noise has been ongoing for months and keeps them awake nightly. "It's unbearable," Bow Creek resident Gene Vivaldi told supervisors. Speaking on behalf of his neighbors, He noted that some people are contemplating selling their homes because of the noise.

"We're asking you to do something to enforce our own ordinances," Vivaldi pleaded.

Another resident, Evelyn Zakowski, told supervisors the noise has been a problem for over a year. "It's become a mental health issue," Zakowski stated. Several other residents added they are kept awake night after night by the noise.

Fairview Township zoning officer Carl Alber told residents because the plant is in adjoining Wright Township, Fairview Township has no jurisdiction. He said he has reached out to Wright Township zoning officer Tim Dow about the noise complaints but has not gotten a response.

Township solicitor Sean Logsdon told the residents there is a jurisdictional issue with regard to enforcing Fairview Township ordinances.

Fairview Township supervisors suggested the residents attend the next Wright Township supervisors meeting to voice their complaints.

Costs in excess of the appeal fee will be charged separately to the appellant. Those costs include posting of notices, advertising, stenographer appearance fee, transcript fee, professional consulting fees, and any necessary administrative costs.

Supervisors voted to advertise for bids for paving projects on Lake Road in Glen Summit and Bow Creek Drive. "The more you will read, the more things you will know. The more that you learn the more places you'll go!" Fairview Townships. Officials from all three municipalities have agreed to work together to open the event to their residents.

Rice appoints members to rec board

Rice Township supervisors recently appointed five members to the newly formed township recreation board. John Rodgers was appointed for a five-year term as board chairperson. Other members are supervisor Rick Arnold, four-year term; Holly Guydish, three-year term; Nanci Romanynshyn and Burton Scouton, one-year terms.

In other news ...

Rice supervisors approved a $124,849.98 payment to Fabcor, Inc. for work on the Ice Pond dam outlet improvement project. Township engineer Andrew Pasonick reported a coffer dam has been installed around the dam and the existing outlet pipe has been located. The engineer said results of surveys of the dam will be forwarded to the state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP). He said the timeline for completion of the project depends on how quickly DEP gives the contractor the go ahead to move forward.

The township resumed Wednesday recycling on April 7. Hours on Wednesdays are 4 to 7 p.m. in addition to Saturday hours.

Gaming grants still not approved

Municipalities across Mountain Top, as well as those throughout Luzerne County, will have to wait until at least the end of May to find out if the gaming grant applications (Local Share Account) they submitted last fall will be awarded.

The Commonwealth Financing Authority (CFA) which awards and administers gaming grants, was supposed to meet March 23 to consider the applications which were due by November 30, 2020. That meeting, however, like the previous one scheduled for January 19, was cancelled. The authority is not scheduled to meet again until May 25.

Meanwhile, municipalities that were hoping to use gaming grants for road improvements that were put off from last summer because the grants weren't awarded, will have to continue to keep those projects on hold. Fairview Township which applied for gaming grant funds to buy a new police vehicle, decided it could not put off the purchase and voted to borrow $30,600 from First Keystone Community Bank to pay for a new police vehicle. The term of the loan is three years at 2.35 percent with monthly payments of $880.

The CFA is an independent agency of the Department of Community and Economic Development (DCED) to administer Pennsylvania's economic stimulus packages, including gaming grants.

Last December, Casey Smith, communications director for DCED said projects funded by gaming grants require a unanimous approval by board members. "Unfortunately, the board has not been able to reach a consensus on these applications and has not made awards to date," she said of the Luzerne County gaming grant applications.

July 4 parade plan upsetting to some Fairview residents

Some long-time Fairview Township residents recently expressed dismay that neither of the two groups vying to conduct this year's July 4 parade plan to include the township in the route.

Mountain Top on The Move wants to start its parade near St. Jude Church and travel north on Route 309, ending at the Wright Township municipal building. Mountain Top Area Community Association plans to start in the same area and end at the Crestwood Secondary Campus.

Steve McGinnis, an officer of the Mountain Top Historical Society, pointed out the annual parade historically started in Fairview Township near Kirby Avenue, proceeded south on South Main Road, and ended at the Wright Township park. "For more than 30 years the parade started in Fairview Township" said McGinnis.

Eric Aigeldinger, a former Fairview Township police officer and Crestwood School Board member, feels confining the parade to Route 309 takes away the "hometown" atmosphere. "Including South Main Road gives the parade that hometown feel," Aigeldinger offered.

Both men urged the organizations to work out an agreement on the parade and to include Fairview Township in the route. "It's our legacy," they said.

Historically, the parade stepped off on Route 309 near Kirby Avenue and then headed south on South Main Road. In 2019, the last year it was held, the route was changed because of construction on a PennDOT bridge on South Main Road.

Christ United Methodist Church, Crestwood Key Club and Kiwanis create Mountain Top Hop

Christ United Methodist Church teamed up with Crestwood High School's Key Club and the Mountain Top Kiwanis Club to create the Mountain Top Hop, a scavenger hunt that took place throughout Mountain Top in place of the annual Easter egg hunt.

"You create an account, and then you have access to questions, which leads you to local businesses. They're a little bit like a riddle, so you have to figure that out and then go to the local business," explained Wendy Griffiths of the Mountain Top Kiwanis.

There were 32 posters at different businesses and places in the Mountain Top community for the scavenger hunt, all designed and created by Crestwood Key Club members.

The people who registered and visited the most businesses had a chance at one of 18 prizes, including a $50 Visa gift card.

Blessing of the baskets held at local churches

As with most everything else, the custom of blessing Easter baskets looked a little different this year. Baskets were blessed outside, in the parking lot at both St. Jude's in Mountain Top and St. Mary's in Dorrance. Parishioners started arriving early at both churches. Baskets were displayed in the rear of cars or placed on the hood with towels or tablecloths underneath. Others were placed on the ground. The baskets had decorative coverings, some with fancy ribbons and bows, and a couple had lighted candles. They were filled with various traditional Easter foods, ham, kielbasa, eggs, horseradish, paska bread, cheese and butter. Some included candy.

The custom of blessing Easter baskets was brought to the United States from central and eastern European countries, like Poland and Slovakia. Each country or ethnic culture has its own adaptation of how the basket is decorated and what foods are included.

Items included in the basket have special meanings - brightly decorated eggs symbolize rejoicing and new life. Meat is a sign of abundance and God's generosity. Butter and cake in the shape of a lamb remind us that Jesus is the Lamb of God and the kindness we should have toward one another. Paska bread symbolizes Christ as the bread of life and horseradish symbolizes the bitter passion of Christ and the hardships of life. Wine is the drink of the Passover meal and serves as a reminder of the glory of the resurrection. The lighted candle in the Easter basket represents the risen Christ as the Light of the World.

Families traditionally eat the blessed food after the Easter Resurrection Mass.

Father Joe makes the rounds blessing Easter baskets at St. Jude Church.

Mountain Peaks/Norberta Kosin photos

Father Philbert, who is from the Diocese of Sunyani, Ghana, Africa told those gathered that this is his first-time blessing Easter baskets since they do not have the tradition in his homeland. He is using an older traditional version of an aspergillum called a broom to sprinkle the holy water.
